

Specific tasks

This section describes how to conduct specific tasks including the visualization of trajectories or the computation of differences between two fields.